Apprenticeships and Work-Based learning programs assist students with job training from a practical standpoint with hands-on experience (rather than classroom-based experience). The School To Registered Apprenticeship Program allows districts to record a high school student's (grades 9-12) participation in work-based learning.

> Additional information on apprenticeship programs can be found on the Next Steps Idaho website.

Apprenticeship records cannot overlap. This means only one open record (no end date) for a student can exist at any time. Also note that STRAP records are NOT tied to a student's enrollment or school calendar records.
