Introductory sentence: Consult the best practices wiki article, but the intro should be no more than a paragraph. Keep it as short as possible. Add a link to the top of the article in the introductory sentence.

Getting Started

- Start here
- Whiteboard videos
- Note: the order that items display in Getting Started doesn't matter. This depends on the context of the content.

Prerequisites (H3) DONE BY THIS USER

- Before using this tool, what must be done first by this user
- Set up Checklists

Examples:
- District Migration Checklist
- Checklist Before Posting Transcripts
- Academic Planning Prerequisites

How-To Guides

- "I want to get something done."
- Instructional steps
- True How-To videos with little to no explanation

Other Decisions for Items on the Page

- Use headers to group & describe related content - avoid doing this by adding a bunch of text to accompany the link.
- When both an article and a video exist, format like this: "Content Title | Video". If there is only an article, use link text. If there is only a video, use "Content Title Video".

Things we need to figure out:

- Next Steps: we like this conceptually, we need to decide where this lives. In Getting Started as an H3? Below the green boxes as an H2? Need to brainstorm and discuss further. Maybe mock up ideas and discuss during the group review process.
- Naming solution for pages when there would be two with the same title.
- Callouts/Critical Things to Know. Need guidance on what div style to use.
